All of the following clinics offer reproductive health services for teens. Some clinics can sign patients up for the Family Planning Benefit Program (FPBP). FPBP is a public health insurance program for females and males who need family planning services, but may not be able to afford them.

Many health centers on this list offer long acting contraceptives such as the implant and IUD (intrauterine device). All health centers on list:

- Provide confidential sexual health services
- Teens will see provider alone, even if parent or partner is present
- Teens will be seen for reproductive health services, even if parent not present
- Ask about sexual history at every visit
- Minors able to give confidential contact information
- Do not require a pelvic exam before starting birth control
- Provide information and referrals to adoption and prenatal services

Adolescence is a good time for children and youth to begin taking responsibility for their physical health—from what they eat to keeping fit to getting preventive check-ups. During this phase, adolescents with chronic conditions can begin to learn how to manage those conditions.

Most minors in New York are unable to consent for their own primary care. Certain minors can consent to any type of health care on their own. Minors in the below categories can consent to any and all medical treatment confidentially, without involving a parent:

- Emancipated minors: minors who are living on their own and are financially independent of their parents
- Married minors
- Minors who have children
- Mature minors: minors who can give informed consent and are mature enough to make their own health care decisions. This determination is made by the health care provider

All primary health care centers below provide general health care, including routine checkups and non-emergency medical care. All health centers on list:

- See all patients regardless of sex, gender, or sexual orientation
- Offer STD testing (urine) and treatment
- Offer pregnancy test (urine)
- Offer contraceptive counseling

HIV/AIDS RESOURCES

HIV (human immunodeficiency virus) weakens a person’s immune system by destroying important cells that fight disease and infection. Most commonly, people get or transmit HIV through sexual behaviors and needle or syringe use. No cure exists for HIV, but with treatment HIV can be controlled. Everyone ages 13 to 64 should get tested for HIV at least once.

There is medication for people who are HIV-negative but at risk for HIV that can prevent HIV infection if they are exposed. PrEP, or pre-exposure prophylaxis, is daily medicine that can stop HIV from taking hold and spreading throughout your body. PrEP may be available from your primary care provider even if they are not on this list.

The following resource provides testing, partner services, and PrEP services.

INTIMATE PARTNER VIOLENCE SERVICES AND PREVENTION

During adolescence, young people learn how to form safe and healthy relationships. Adolescents sometimes develop unhealthy relationships, and experience or exhibit intimate partner violence. Controlling and demanding behaviors often happen before violence occurs.

Over time, controlling and demanding behavior may become increasingly violent. Violence can have a negative effects on physical and mental health throughout life. Victims of violence often feel trapped and are at risk for harm.

Adults can help by paying attention, talking to adolescents about how to build healthy, respectful relationships, and urging young people to get help.

LGBTQ RESOURCES

Many lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer/questioning (LGBTQ) adolescents are happy and thrive during their teenage years.

However, as a group they are more likely than their heterosexual peers to experience difficulties: LGBTQ adolescents are at increased risk for suicide attempts, being homeless, alcohol use, and risky sex.

MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

Important mental health habits—including coping, resilience, and good judgment—help adolescents to achieve overall wellbeing and set the stage for positive mental health in adulthood. Friends and family can watch for warning signs of mental disorders, such as depression or anxiety disorders, and urge young people to get help. Effective treatments exist and may involve a combination of counseling and medication.

Most minors in New York State are unable to consent for their own mental health care. Certain minors can consent to any type of health care on their own. Minors in the below categories can consent to any and all medical treatment confidentially, without involving a parent:

- Emancipated minors: minors who are living on their own and are financially independent of their parents
- Married minors
- Minors who have children
- Mature minors: minors who can give informed consent and are mature enough to make their own health care decisions. This determination is made by the health care provider.
- Treatment is necessary to the minor’s well-being and a parent or guardian is not reasonably available
- Requiring parental consent would have a negative effect on the minor’s treatment.

The following resources include urgent mental health services for crisis situations, counseling, and psychiatry services.

SUBSTANCE USE SERVICES

Some adolescents use drugs that are not prescribed for them or are illegal to help their mood. Many factors and strategies can help adolescents stay drug free: strong positive connections with parents, other family members, school, and religion; having parents present clear limits and consistent enforcement of discipline; and reduced access in the home to addictive substances.

Substance abuse, also known as drug abuse, is the use of one or more substances that leads to a clinically significant harm or distress.
